LENNOX FALL SHOW

What promised to be a record year for the County Fair was marred by wet weather on the second day. The attendance on Tuesday evening was as large as usual, and for a wet day the attendance on Wednesday was pretty good.

The prospect of wet weather no doubt also affected the exhibits which showed a slight falling off from previous years.

The S. ymour Power Co. had an excellent exhibit of electrical goods, in electric lighting fixtures, toasters, heaters, electric irons, ect. But what probably drew the most attention was a wash tub wringer and mangle all running by electricity. An electric stove, which the manager of the company says can be run as cheaply as a gas stove was also a feature of the exhibit. The whole exhibit was tastefully arranged, and the numerous lights made it a brilliant corner of the building.

Mr. F. W. VanDusen exhibited a splendid selection of the various goods he handles, fur robes, blankets, harness, rugs, and accessories.

Messrs. Weiss Brothers had an attractive display of boots, shoes, and travelling goods.

The Gibbard Furniture Company displayed a few pieces of high grade furniture which were admired by all and coveted by most people, the mahogany parlor suite especially so.

An exhibit of stoves and ranges was made Mr. M. S. Madole. They were the celebrated Penninsular line manufactured by Clare Bros., who, no doubt, justly claim their stoves and ranges to be of the best.

Mr. J. W. Courtney, Newburgh, had an attractive display of tanned hides, leather, robes, mats, etc.

Messrs. VanLaven Bros. and C. A. Wiseman exhibited pianos, organs and phonographs, and supplied music inside the building all day long.

BABY SHOW.

Nine babies, five girls and four boys, the special pride of their fond mothers appeared to claim the honors of being the very best babies. The judges were a considerable time making their awards and the babies were put through a thorough examination. Secretary Ming announced the awards as follows:

Baby girls—1st, Emma Anderson; 2nd, Elsie Sagar; 3rd, Margaret H. Green.

Baby Boys—1st, Keith Sills; 2nd, Roy Martin; 3rd, Geo. Randall Burns.

Dr. Ming's special—Wilbert Hart. No twin babies were shown.

Judges—David Milne, J. J. Anderson, J. W. McCormick, Mrs. Ferguson.

several years he was Lay Deacon of this parish to Synod and fully exercised his duties as such in the election of Bishop Bidwell in last. After graduating in Arts, he took up insurance work as a career, finding himself with the Contingent Life. Remaining undisturbed he settled in Kingston, and for several years Secretary of the Chamber of Trade. He was a staunch advocate and a member of St. George's, A.F. & A.M., Kingston. His sudden and tragic death in the flower of manhood—his age was in his thirties—was a great shock to his aged parents and brothers and sisters, as well as to a host of friends at his home in Reidville, Kingston, Napanee and the West. ## TOWN COUNCIL.

Council Chamber,
Sept. 15th, 1913

Council met in regular session on Monday evening.

In the absence of Mayor Steacy the chair was occupied by Reeve Osborne.

Present—Councillors Simpson, Carson, Walters, Graham and Dickinson.

The minutes of the last regular and special sessions were read and confirmed.

A communication was read from Fuce & Scott, civil engineers and surveyors, Calgary, stating that they had opened offices in Toronto and were prepared to give careful and prompt attention in the design and construction of sewers and similar work.

Ordered filed.

A communication was read from John English on behalf of his client, Mrs. Alfretha Derby, who had received bodily injuries caused by a fall on a defective sidewalk on the evening of September 2nd.

Coun. Carson informed the council that a settlement of the case had been made by paying the claimant the sum of $15.00.

Communication ordered filed.

A communication was read from the Davis Dry Dock Co., of Kingston, in reference to the building of a steamboat to be used on the Napanee-Picton route. A suitable boat would cost $8,500. She would be an 80 foot steamer, with a speed of twelve miles an hour, and would carry two hundred passengers. If $5,000 could be raised this winter, the balance could be allowed to remain to be paid out of the earnings when the boat went into service. They would also ask a bonus of $500 from Napanee and Picton for the first year, and would possibly get something from the C. N. R. and the Government for carrying mails.

Moved by Reeve Osborne, seconded by Coun. Graham that the communication be referred to the special committee appointed earlier in the year in connection with this matter. Carried.

A communication was read from G. F. Ruttan on behalf of his client, Mrs. C. A. Graham. The trouble hinges on the action of the Medical Health Officer in connection with a drain on the north side of Mill Street and connecting with a similar drain from the Royal Hotel property. For years a cess pool has existed in the Royal Hotel property and the Medical Health officer undertook to remedy the evil by drainage into a stone sewer on the north side of Mill street. Complaint is made that there is not sufficient fall to the stone drain, and instead of the contents running away, it soaks through the crevices in the rock and finds its way into the well in the property of Mrs. C. A. Graham, thereby marking it unfit for use.

Street Commissioner Lowry informed the council that he had nothing to do with the work. Whatever action was taken was initiated and performed under the instructions of the Medical Health Officer.

On motion of Councillors Simpson and Dickinson the matter was referred to the Board and Sanitary Committee.

APS FROM BRIDGE.

Hawkins Throws Himself Into Niagara Whirlpool.

ARA FALLS, N.Y., Sept. 16.—A man believed to be John Hawkins, 45 years old, a moulder who came from Erie, Pa., on Sept. 15, attempted to leap from the steel arch bridge last Saturday morning, committed suicide by plunging into the lower steel arch bridge whirlpool rapids, nearly 200 feet below the bridge yesterday morning. The description of the man was that of a man with dark hair, not returned to the Waverly Second street, where he was last seen. He left the place in a motor car at eight o'clock yesterday morning.

He entered upon the bridge at the Canadian end. He walked on the sidewalk on the north side of the bridge, but infrequently used the footway. When he reached the foot of the bridge, he began to climb the four-foot railing. His left leg over, he perched on a moment on the rail. He drew up his right foot, and stepped into the river. The body immediately it touched the water.

They were standing on the river bank about 200 feet below the bridge on the Canadian side, when they first saw him. He was at that time about to cross the bridge. A moment later he saw him stop, climb the railing and take the plunge.

CANADIAN'S DISCOVERY

Prof. Macallum of Toronto Tells of Advance in Medicine.

Noted Physiologist Makes an Important Announcement to British Association Concerning the Nerve Cells—Prof. Butler of Manitoba, Prof. Gates and Prof. Fields Also Take Part in Discussions.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Among those attending the meeting of the physiology section of the British Association has been Prof. Macallum, F.R.S., Toronto University, who yesterday gave an account of the joint discovery and investigation into "a new substance in nerve cells," a Canadian discovery which Prof. Leith, who presided, described as most valuable.

Prof. Macallum said the new substance was to be found only in fresh nerve cells. It did not occur in any other kind of cell except those that were metamorphosed into the modulatory cell of the suprarenal gland. It was absent in fibres and more abundant in the nerve cells of the sympathetic nerve system. The substance itself was easily extracted from the cell by water or alcohol and disappeared from the dying cell. It was probably an expert compound and forerunner of adrenal. The substance was now known to be of first importance in maintaining blood pressure or the tone of the arteries.

The theoretical importance of the observation lay in the fact that it seemed to show that nerve cells were secreting structures or glandular elements, which they were not previously supposed to be.

Prof. Butler of Manitoba University and Dr. Ruggles Gates, formerly of McGill, took part in the discussions of the botany section. Prof. Butler also contributed a paper in which he showed that in certain common toadstools the structures of the gills underneath the cap were most wonderfully organized to secure successful liberation of seed-like bodies. He said that the organization of these fungi was just as wonderful as that of the orchids.

Prof. Fields, professor of mathematics, Toronto University, gave an address to the section for pure mathematics. Dealing with the direct derivation of the complementary theorem, he compared the theorem he has discovered with the Riemann-Roch theorem and gave proof that it was more general in its method than the latter.

The secret of the determination of sex possibly may be found in plant life. Sir Oliver Lodge told the association at its meeting yesterday afternoon. Referring to the fact that some plants produce both male and female flowers, he said this must be the result of some profound change in the sap at the junction in the stems where differently sexed flowers branch away from each other. He continued:

"I do not know what this is, and the microscope tells me nothing. Perhaps if physiologists could find out what happens in that little plant joint they might get a clue to the reason why some human beings are born boys and others girls."

MEXICAN CRISIS WORSE

U. S. Officials Are Pessimistic Regarding Outlook.

President Wilson Is Cutting Short His Vacation and Hastening to Washington In Fear of Massacres Which Will Arouse American Ignition—Refugees Tell Stories of Cold-Blooded Murders.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Marked pessimism as to the Mexican situation is no longer concealed in administration circles. Whereas for some weeks all the White House talk about Mexico was extremely optimistic, the official tone is discouraging.

It is admitted on all hands that no progress is being made to restore peace, that fighting is more prevalent than ever, and that an explosion in the form of massacres of Americans may break forth any time, thus making it impossible for the President or Congress to stay the force of public sentiment here.

The fact that President Wilson has cut short his vacation and is starting back from Cornish, N.H., is understood to be due to the uncertainty of the Mexican situation and fear of demonstrations in Mexico City to-day, Independence Day. One hundred Americans, fugitives from the Mexican desert between Torreon and Saltillo, harassed by bandit bands, according to unconfirmed reports, were not mentioned in the early official despatches yesterday, and the State Department had no other information of them, although a Mexican news despatch said they were safe.

Tell Thrilling Tales.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—Tales which move the blood are told by one hundred American refugees who arrived here Sunday on the Pacific Mail steamer Peru from all parts of the Pacific coast of Mexico. Among the worst of these stories was the cold-blooded murder of Morris P. Root, an American mining engineer.

Root was murdered by a band of revolutionists while he was unarmed and helpless. He was superintendent of the El Tegu mines at Tepic, and while on his way to join employees of the company, who were preparing to defend the mine against a band of guerrillas, he was seized and disarmed, and then hacked to death by the machetes of half a dozen bandits.

Root was known as the nephew of Elihu Root. Elihu Root, jr., denied he had ever heard of Morris P. Root. The murdered man had been in Mexico for sixteen years. He was fifty years of age and was an expert miner.

G. Hirschfield, a native of San Francisco, and cousin of the vice-president of Levi Strauss & Co., laid strong emphasis on the futility of President Wilson's pacification idea.

"If President Wilson knew anything about Mexico," he said, "he would realize the country can be pacified only in one way, and that is with the big stick, just as Porfirio Diaz wielded it. It is hard to even suggest pacification, for it is beyond human power to bring the various bandit factions together. The rebel chiefs do not recognize each other, and between looting they fight among themselves. They are fighting for loot, and for nothing but loot. If this Government had sent a man who possessed a knowledge of Mexican affairs there, other truths would have been known to the President, and the ridiculous note sent to Huerta would never have been written."

VANISHED WILD PIGEONS.

Once They Darkened Our Skies, but Are Never Seen Now.

Old residents of Olean—some of them not so very old, either—remember distinctly the time when flocks of wild pigeons flew over the then straggling village of Olean in such countless numbers as to almost obscure the very sky, when flock followed flock in such close succession as to partly give the impression that each was but the separated group and companion voyagers of the flock that had but just passed.

Unpaid Officials Are Added To Ranks of Malcontents.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A cable from Lisbon says: The situation here is becoming critical. Hundreds of minor Government officials have not been paid for several weeks, thus giving rise to a dangerous feeling against the administration.

Newspapers not given to alarmist views, admit that the situation is desperate while expressing the conviction that a restoration of the monarchy would be a failure. One of the papers says that a new monarch would certainly be assassinated by the people.

One of the streets of the city has been named, amid general plaudits, in honor of Francisco Ferre, the Spanish educator.

Thousands of persons are fleeing the country and the Government is trying to find a way of checking the movement. Most of the fugitives are those who have remained neutral during the political struggles which have continued since the assassination of King Carlos, and who have been systematically blackmailed by secret organizations with Government affiliations.

Pugilist Johnson To Return?

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight prizefighter, will return to Chicago from France, when his appeal from a conviction under the Mann White Slave Act is to be heard, according to Benjamin Bachrach, Johnson's attorney. Bachrach and Assistant District Attorney Parkin argued before Federal Judge Calender yesterday, on the question of the proper form for a bill of exceptions on which Johnson's appeal is based.

Johnson's trial on the Milwaukee side of his indictment under the Mann Act, is set for the middle of October. No date has been set for the hearing of the case before the Court of Appeals.

Sailor Heir Is Found.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 16.—Chas. Rowe, a sailor, who has been sought as a missing heir during many of the last thirty years he has worked on great lake freighters, learned yesterday that a fortune of $50,000 awaits him in London, Ont.

The fortune, known as the Rispin estate, was left him by a relative, John Rispin, at one time a sailor.

Rowe saw in an old London, Ont., newspaper an advertisement of the administrators. He left yesterday to claim the legacy.

STARVATION MAY DO IT.

Hunger Is Strongest Ally of Capital In Dublin.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A London cable says:

Hunger has become the ally of organized capital in the fight against the Dublin transport workers. By the end of this week the spectre of starvation will be a grim reality in the foul slums of the city, where life at best is a hand-to-mouth struggle to keep body and soul together.

There is no sign of weakening, however, on the part of James Larkins' deluded followers, despite a steady and ominous growth day by day of the employers' lockout.

Larkin, speaking at a labor meeting in Manchester, said he believed he had a divine mission to make men and women discontented.

Since he went to Ireland, in 1907, he had raised the flag of discontent from Belfast to Cork, and brought a new hope and a new gospel to the working classes of Ireland.

Alberta House Open Tuesday.

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 16.—The first session of the third Alberta Legislature opens Tuesday, and it is expected that the session will be of shorter duration than usual. Only a small number of civil bills have been advertised and it is not expected much important public legislation will be enacted.

A libel law will probably be introduced. Such a measure was slated for last year, but was shelved owing to pressure of other business. Hon. A. G. MacKay will probably signalize his entrance to the Legislature by moving the Woodmen's Lien Act to protect wages of men making ties for railroad building in the west. This will have the support of the Government.

Constantine's Paris Visit.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—It is officially announced that King Constantine of Greece, will visit Paris incognito on Sept. 20, when he will be received by President Poincare. The visit may be intended to counteract the king's visit to Germany and his remarks there in praise of German military tactics in the Greek campaign, which gave offence to French instructors.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—With the wind behind, a biplane Guillaux Sunday flew with a passenger from Savigny en Graye, his home, to Paris, a distance of 190 kilometers, in 50 minutes, representing a speed of 143 miles an hour. This is the fastest rate at which a human being ever traveled.

Canadian Immigration.

Into a booklet of thirty-two pages issued by direction of the Hon. W. J. Roche, Minister of the Interior, has been packed quite a mass of information on the subject of Canadian immigration. The figures are brought down to include those of the fiscal year 1912-1913, which again broke all records in the number of British-born persons entering the Dominion. From 123,013 in 1910-11, it rose to 138,121 in 1911-12, and in the following year to 150,542. During those three years the corresponding figures from the United States were: 121,451, 133,715, and 139,000, and from other countries 66,680, 82,406, and 112,881. The total immigration for 1912-13 was 402,432.

pigeons new over the such staggering village of Olean in such countless numbers as to almost obscure the very sky, when flock followed flock in such close succession as to partly give the impression that each was but the separated group and companion voyagers of the flock that had but just passed overhead on swiftly whirling wings. These flocks passed in one long procession for days at a time in the early spring and even for weeks. Thousands and even hundreds of thousands of them, if the reports of those days were to be taken implicitly, nested in the woods of Alton and Big Shanty, a short distance across the Pennsylvania line.

All at once these myriad flocks of pigeons ceased to come—disappeared abruptly, mysteriously, and apparently forever. Whence did they go so suddenly and so completely? No one has yet been able to answer that question. Since that time game authorities and naturalists have searched in vain for further traces of the birds, not only in this vicinity, but all over North America. Large sums have been offered by magazines as well as individuals for a nest or even a single egg of the passenger pigeon.—Olean (N. Y.) Times.

Where J. R. Green Was Librarian.

Lambeth Palace library was founded about the beginning of the seventeenth century by philanthropic Archbishop Bancroft, and has been enriched by several of his successors. It now contains over 30,000 volumes, many of great rarity, besides a vast number of important manuscripts. Among the celebrated scholars who have had charge of this library was John Richard Green, the historian. He welcomed the change from an east end vicarage, because it set him free to pursue his historical researches. "The quiet of the Lambeth library," he wrote to his friend, Boyd Dawkins, "is like still waters after the noise of the east. I enjoy even the cleaner street, and, above all, my morning's trot through the parks."—Westminster Gazette.

An Author Who Lived Too Soon.

That Swift's life was a failure in the eighteenth century and would have been a splendid success in the twentieth century no one, we think, will deny. Imagine what a fortune "Gulliver's Travels" and "A Tale of a Tub" would have brought their author in these days. Like the author of "Peter Pan" he would have made his plum and been made a baronet or an archbishop had he clung to holy orders, which he would probably have discarded. As it was, Swift died "like a rat in a hole," to use his own words.—London Saturday Review.

THE MINISTERIAL JOYRIDERS

PRIVATE CARS STILL BUSY CARRYING MINISTERS AND "INVITED GUESTS"

The record number of ministerial trips to and fro across Canada this summer at the country's expense have been made doubly expensive by the presence of many "invited guests." On the train which brought Hon. Frank Cochrane to Winnipeg last week there were no less than seven private cars. Accompanying the minister were many contractors and politicians, including two Conservative M.P.'s, one Conservative Senator, three Conservative members of the Ontario legislature, and the provincial Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. Hon. J. D. Hazen in his trip across the Dominion had as his guest at the country's expense—a St. John political supporter. Hon. W. T. Crothers took his law partner with him in a Government car to the Pacific coast. Hon. Robert Rogers, who kept a newly-purchased Government car with him all summer, seldom, if ever, travelled without "some of the boys" on board. Hon. Col. Hughes' special train across Canada at a cost something like $40,000 needs no comment. Hon. Louis Coderre also had a "company" on his recent trip in a government car to the Pacific coast and back. A little later on Hon. W. T. White will requisition a car for a trip through the West. Hon. L. P. Pelletier is now touring the West in a government car. These are but few of the instances of ministerial jaunting. Altogether it has been a great summer for joy-riding. The activities and the hospitality of the ministers will be adequately represented next year in the Auditors General's report under the heading of "travelling expenses."

THE BRAKES ARE OFF.

THE PEOPLE PAY WHILE THE GOVERNMENT SPENDS. THE PUBLIC DEBT GROWS Apace.

Grit postmaster who had been dead several years.

Last week Hon. Robert Rogers put through an order-in-council changing the name "Sir Wilfrid" on a government dredge to "P. W. D. No. 117."

The ostrich puts its head in the sand and imagines no one sees him. Messrs. Pelletier and Rogers draw their pens through a name and imagine they have unmade history.

LIQUOR AND POLITICS.

A RAMIFICATION OF THE ROGERS MACHINE IS DISCLOSED BY AN ORDER-IN-COUNCIL.

The alacrity with which the Government has acted in withdrawing by order-in-council the restrictions in regard to the sale of liquor along the "completed" portions of the National Transcontinental Railway is an ominous portent of Hon. Robert Rogers' progress towards extending his Manitoba methods of machine politics to the federal arena. In Manitoba, the liquor interests have been for years one of the most important crops of the Roblin government. The community of interests between the liquor men and the provincial party in power is well recognized throughout the Province. Shortly after Mr. Rogers came to Ottawa a federal liquor men's protective organization was created with some of Mr. Rogers' Manitoba henchmen as its active organizer. The Minister of Public Works knew the value of reciprocity with the liquor interests in Manitoba. There was scope for a wider application of this feature of machine politics and a consolidation of interests in all the provinces for the mutual benefit of Conservative politicians and of Conservative liquor license holders was desired. The withdrawal of the prohibition of the sale of liquor within the prescribed ten mile area along the line of the National Transcontinental is another sign of this consolidation of interests. The request for the withdrawal of the prohibition undoubtedly came from Mr. Rogers and he in turn heard the whisper of his liquor allies. A similar withdrawal of the restrictions at Le Pas, the western terminus of the Hudson Bay railway now under construction is due to take place soon. Some of Mr. Rogers' friends want a liquor license at Le Pas. It will be given to them.

G.O.M. OF THE WEST

ANGUS MACKAY IS FRIEND OF THE WHEAT FARMERS.

Superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Indian Head Sask., Moved Into the West Before the Three Provinces Were Joined and Has Been on the Farm Ever Since—Popular in the West.

"I see from my house by the side of the road—

By the side of the highway of life, The men who press with the ardor of hope,

The men who are faint with strife. But I turn not away from their smiles not their tears—

Both are parts of an infinite plan; Let me live in the house by the side of the road

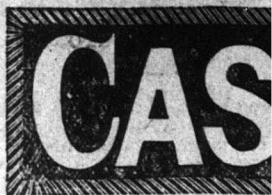

And be a friend to man."

In the West the name of Angus Mackay is a household expression, because for twenty-six years he has meant friendship and counsel to the farmer of the plains says Norman Lambert in Toronto Globe. Mr. Mackay is the superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Indian Head, and he is the only superintendent that institution has ever had. More than that, he is the pioneer, the father, of agriculture in Western Canada. Saskatchewan is his Province now, and Saskatchewan people claim him as their Grand Old Man, but Mr. Mackay's field of influence knows no Provincial boundaries. He came into the West long before the three Prairie Provinces were formed, and he is known and remembered best, perhaps, for his work during the long, hard years prior to 1905. Early in July it was announced that Angus Mackay was being retired by the Government from the farm at Indian Head to take a better position, and from Manitoba to Alberta, from the boundary line to the northerly limits of the agricultural belt, this general word was spoken: "There is nothing too good in this world that they can do for him."

Angus Mackay came to the great Northwest in 1882. He was amongst the first contingent of settlers which came West from Ontario upon the opening of the C. P. R. to Manitoba. The majority of the old Ontario immigrants at that time were taking land in the southern part of Manitoba, and in that district to-day, excepting the Mennonites, the sons and daughters of the pioneers in Bruce, Huron and Grey counties still comprise a large percentage of the population. Whether or not it was because Mr. Mackay and the three friends who accompanied him were not descendants of Huron, Grey or Bruce, or because they had a more canny genius for locating good soil, that they passed Manitoba by and proceeded to lands situated on the eastern threshold of the Northwest Territories is not known. But subsequent events would rather go to support the latter theory. At any rate, they were in the van of the first big trek of Ontario farmers to the West, and, like their Celtic forefathers amid the primitive and pioneer surroundings in Eastern Provinces in the early days, they have labored hard and well, and have set up standards of thoroughness which are just now beginning to prevail throughout the entire plains country.

The three men who came West with Angus Mackay in 'eighty-two were Williamson, Miller and Boon. They all hailed from Ontario County, Ontario, in the vicinity of Pickering. Mr. Mackay, who, was born in that locality in 1841, was also educated at

MASTERLY INACTIVITY.

The plan is crafty, but not quite subtle enough to fool the people.

There is a story told of a Chicago cold storage egg. Once upon a time a western bachelor purchased a case of cold storage eggs for winter consumption. On one of the eggs he found written a message asking the purchaser to communicate with the girl who had packed this particular egg and suggesting that such communication might lead to matrimony. The western bachelor wrote to the address given and offered his heart, hand and name. The reply came back in due course "Too late, I was married four years ago and have two children" she wrote. Perhaps there is an analogy to be drawn with Mr. Borden's "emergency." It was freshly packed a year ago. It is a little added now, but is still "an emergency." Possibly two years hence it will still be doing duty as a strictly-fresh, new-laid "emergency." But the country is hardly likely to offer its heart and hand to the packer, Mr. Borden, then, on the strength of the message on the label.

Liberalism's interest is in principles. The chief interest of the present conservative regime seems to be the interest of the interests on the principal accumulated by the late Government. The national debt increases ; the treasury is depleted by lavish expenditure and the vested interests flourish while the cost of living to the average man is steadily mounting.

The following is an extract from a Police Court report published in the Evening Telegram, of Toronto: "Her head swathed in bandages, Maria Ceccacci, the Italian woman who fought for her life with a baby in her arms last Tuesday, told of having been attacked by Giovanni Roberts, her assailant being armed with a knife at the time.

"Where did he cut you?" asked Mr. Hughes.

" 'On the sidewalk,' replied Maria."

A wound in such a vital spot might well have proven fatal.

An order has been issued by the Department of Militia, at Ottawa, forbidding the carrying of arms by militia units and cadets on Sunday church parades. A regulation to this effect has been on record for some time past, but in recent years has been frequently transgressed. The growth of the Boy Scout and Cadet movements, and the tendency of these junior corps to carry arms on all occasions when on parade, have made it necessary, in the interests of safety and on other grounds, to enforce the regulation.

The three men who came West with Angus Mackay in 'eighty-two were Williamson, Miller and Boon. They all hailed from Ontario County, Ontario, in the vicinity of Pickering. Mr. Mackay, who, was born in that locality in 1841, was also educated at the old Whitby Grammar School. In 1866 he was Lieutenant in the 34th Regiment of Fort Erie, and was engaged in active service at the time of the Fenian Raid. So, although being known now principally for his work of the past thirty years in Western Canada Mr. Mackay spent the first forty-one years of his life in the East. When the group of the four Ontario County farmers left for the Western frontier the C. P. R. was running only as far west as Oak Lake, at that time a point 165 miles beyond Winnipeg. After Oak Lake, a lonely, boundless expanse of prairie was the only view, and on toward the western skyline journeyed the four settlers with their wagons and cumbersome ox-teams, for a distance of 150 miles, when they came to the fertile district now surrounding Indian Head. Then they selected their homesteads, in a block, formed a company with themselves as the only shareholders, and decided, in this way, to work on a co-operative basis. Two of those old homesteads have since changed hands. They belonged to Miller and Williamson, who lived long enough to see the wheat belt move in jumps from the western boundary of Manitoba to the fertile plains of the Peace River Valley.

For five years these four men worked together, and then, in 1887, the Dominion Government undertook to establish an experimental farm in Western Canada. In 1888 a farm of 690 acres was purchased from a land company which owned sixty thousand acres in the Qu'Appelle Valley country, which extends north from Indian Head as far as the Qu'Appelle River. Angus Mackay, who assisted the Government in locating the site for the first experimental farm, was appointed the first superintendent, and there on the outskirts of the town of Indian Head he established what might very aptly be called an agricultural mission, to which men have gone in increasing numbers during the past twenty-five years, to learn the gospel of sensible farming, and from which thousands of letters have been sent to those who could not come, conveying into the wilderness some word of that same gospel. As the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta were formed, and the rapid influx of immigration in recent years has given them thousands of farmers, other experimental stations have been established by the Dominion at Rosthern and Scott, and at Lethbridge and Lacombe. These younger institutions, headed by young and capable men, are carrying on with vigor and efficiency the work which was started by the old master at Indian Head, but it is from him still that much advice is sought and much information is received.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. entirely. The August expenditure of the Dominion totaled $18,227,069, according to official figures of the Finance Department. This represents an increase of no less than $6,772, 193 as compared with August of last year. The net public debt increased during the month by $3,681,217, or nearly two dollars per head for every man in the Dominion. Last year, before the government had struck its stride, the net debt decreased during August by $3,067,926. For the first five months of the current fiscal year the total expenditure has been increased by nearly fifteen million dollars as compared with the corresponding period of last year. For the expenses of ordinary administration the increase for the four months has been over four million dollars. Yet, within a week before he was returned to power in the elections of September, 1911, Mr. Borden was assuring the people of Canada that the Laurier Government was spending at least ten millions more per year than it should spend on necessary charges of administration. If expenditures were "wasteful and scandalous" then what must they be now?

And it should not be forgotten that this rapid growth of expenditure comes at a time when the steady growth of revenue, which obtained under the late government, is halted. The revenue for August was only $102,004 higher than the revenue of the preceding August—the smallest monthly increase recorded in years.

Hon. W. T. White, who has to find the funds for the joy-rides of his fellow spenders, is now under the necessity of raising a loan in the London money market at a time of general financial stringency, when interest rates are abnormally high. The treasury despite the record revenues from customs taxation, has been depleted and the minister must borrow more funds on the Dominion's credit in order to meet the requirements of the Government's "good road policy." For the said good roads—politically speaking—the general consumer must pay sooner or later in the shape of increased taxation. "A short life and a merry one" is the cry of the Joy-Riders.

Last year the Postmaster General wiped the name of "Graham" off the post-office map. The name was given in compliment to the then Minister of Railways to the junction point of the National Transcontinental and the G. T. P. branch to Fort William. ## TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can. — "I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"When I wrote to you some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had organic inflammation and could not stand or walk any distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend your medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and think they are fine. I will never be without the medicine in the house."—Mrs. FRANK Emsley, 903 Columbia Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

The Other Case.

Beatrice, Neb. — "Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. Child, Beatrice, Neb.

TWO PRIZE ORATIONS.

All That Remain of the Many Works of Elijah Kellogg.

Generation after generation of our American schoolboys have declaimed "Spartacus to the Gladiators" or "Regulus to the Carthaginians" and probably never stopped to wonder what stenographer among the ancients took down these celebrated remarks. As a matter of fact, both were the work of a New England clergyman, Elijah Kellogg. "Spartacus" was written while he was a young theological student at Andover in 1842 for the rhetorical exercises of his class. "Regulus" was written three years later for a fellow student to speak in a prize competition.

What college youth of these days could write such forceful orations? These have never been surpassed, and in some schools it has become necessary to bar them from the list at prize speaking competitions, so invariably do they carry off the prizes.

Of all the work of Elijah Kellogg these alone remain known. Yet he wrote thirty wholesome books for boys, some of them tales of the woods and some of school, and was for years an eloquent pastor at the Seaman's church in Boston. He might have become a Talmage or a Beecher or a Brooks and gained fame in a more fashionable pulpit, but clung to the life work he had chosen.—Detroit Free Press.

PUZZLED THE CAPTAIN.

The Mysterious Dane Who Boarded His Vessel at Hamburg.

The captain of a vessel which was bringing to America in the fall of 1796 a mysterious passenger who had come aboard at Hamburg watched the latter so closely that at last the passenger said one day: "Sir, this is not the first occasion upon which I have observed the attentive scrutiny you bestow upon me. May I inquire the reason?"

"Sir," responded the candid captain, "you took passage on my ship as a Dane. I don't believe you're anything of the kind."

The passenger smiled. The smile was full of perspicacity and confidence and was followed with, "Pray, tell me, then, what you believe me to be?"

At this question Captain Ewing fidgeted, hesitated and finally blurted out: "Well, to be honest, I think you are a gambler. You've well nigh ruined yourself at home and are now coming to fleece the fools you'll find on shore."

The young man's smile broadened. The next minute he turned grave again, lowered his voice and replied: "Captain Ewing, as you have studied me during this voyage, so I have studied you. I have come to the conclusion that you are a man to be trusted. I am Louis Philippe, duc d'Orleans, eldest son of that Louis Philippe d'Orleans who was slain by the guillotine on the 7th of November, almost three years ago."

Pellagra Due to Flint in Water.

Professors Scala and Alessandrini of the University of Rome have just announced the discovery that pellagra is due to the water of the affected districts, which contains colloidal solutions of flint. The disease can be prevented by adding carbonated chalk to the water.
